No. 119.—In the appropriation report on the accounts of Government for 1924–25 the Accountant-General includes the following paragraph :—

"An insidious cause sometimes of increasing expenditure is an undue liberality in the interpretation of rules and orders governing payments to Government servants. The monetary effect of a widening

* Where the income on which income-tax has been charged differs from that on which super-tax has been charged both amounts must be specified.

of a rule is always difficult to gauge. The Audit Department in the spirit of economy incurs a considerable amount of odium in generally taking the narrowest view when there is any doubt as to the strict intention of a rule, but the Audit Department is not concerned directly in the framing of such rules. However, the vigilance of the Audit Office is no substitute for the control which should be exercised by the heads of offices in ensuring that the spirit of financial rules should be rigidly applied."

The Public Accounts Committee trusts that the Government will insist upon all heads of offices exercising such control as to ensure that the spirit of financial rules is rigidly applied.

The Government invite the attention of all heads of departments and disbursing officers to these remarks and desire them to insist upon a strict interpretation of all financial rules.

2. The Accountant-General also refers in his appropriation report for 1924–25 to the scheme of departmental control of expenditure, and the Public Accounts Committee has made the following observations:—

"The Committee observes that the appropriation report for 1924–25 deals with a period in which the scheme of departmental control of expenditure had not been introduced, and hopes that the report for 1925–26 will bear testimony to the value of this scheme in a greatly reduced number of irregularities and in fewer comments in the appropriation accounts. Many of the matters noticed by the Accountant-General in the appropriation accounts might have been avoided if the heads of offices and heads of departments had been in a position to keep closer watch over the progress of their expenditure. The new scheme of control is intended to enable them to do this and the appropriation report for the current year will indicate how far this object has been attained."

Government have already issued detailed instructions on the subject and the attention of all heads of departments is invited to the remarks of the Committee.

3. The Accountant-General comments in his audit report for 1924–25 on a large number of financial irregularities which have occurred during the year. The Public Accounts Committee after scrutinizing the irregularities in detail has come to the following conclusions:—

"The Committee observes that the large number of financial irregularities mentioned by the Accountant-General in his audit report are to be considered as samples rather than a complete list of the irregularities which occurred in the course of the year. The irregularities themselves and the explanations placed before the Committee point to the fact that a large number of Government officers who are entrusted with the spending of large sums of money have completely failed to realize the importance of satisfying themselves that the accounts of their money transactions are properly maintained. The Committee wishes to emphasize the importance of making every officer realize that the correct maintenance of his accounts is as important a part of his duties as his executive work. A knowledge of accounts is a necessary part of the equipment of every officer through whose hands Government money passes and the Committee would like to be assured that heads of departments make adequate arrangements to ensure that all officers entrusted with the handling of Government money are sufficiently familiar with accountancy to keep an adequate check over the clerks or accountants in their offices. An officer should never be allowed to plead as an excuse for a financial or accounts irregularity that he has been let down by a clerk or accountant. The responsibility is his and it is for him to see that the clerk or accountant is doing his work properly."

The Government endorse the remarks of the Public Accounts Committee and trust that heads of departments will make all officers subordinate to them realize their responsibility for keeping correct accounts of all Government money which passes through their offices.

No. 771.—Notification No. 422, regarding the acquisition of land for a street connecting Ilappai Tope street with Pappanchari East street in Negapatam town and taluk, Tanjore district, published at page 134 of Part I-A of Fort St. George Gazette, dated 4th May 1926, is hereby cancelled.

Fort St. George, July 17, 1926.
(G.O. Press No. 1089, L. & M.)

No. 772.—In G.O. No. 3817, L. & M., dated the 20th October 1925 (published on page 529 of the Fort St. George Gazette, dated the 27th October 1925) the Government proposed to vary the jurisdiction of the existing three temple committees in the Tanjore district under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 16 of the Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act, 1923, as specified in the annexure to that order and under proviso (ii) to that sub-section called upon the committees concerned to submit their objections, if any, against the proposal.

2. The Kumbakonam Devastanam Committee has no objection to the proposal while the Negapatam Circle Temple Committee has not offered any remarks. The Managing Member of the Tanjore Temple Committee points out that under the proposed arrangement his committee will have jurisdiction only over 100 temples while the Kumbakonam Committee will have jurisdiction over 308 temples and that the transfer of the portion of the Papanasam taluk now within its jurisdiction to the Kumbakonam Committee will affect its already inadequate resources. He therefore suggests that all the non-excepted temples in the Papanasam taluk should be placed under the jurisdiction of the committee instead of the Kumbakonam Devastanam Committee. The Board of Commissioners for Hindu Religious Endowments considers that the representation of the Tanjore Temple Committee is reasonable and that the change proposed will conduce to the better working of that committee without impairing the efficiency of the Kumbakonam Devastanam Committee. The Board accordingly recommends that all the non-excepted temples in the Papanasam taluk may be placed under the jurisdiction of the Tanjore Temple Committee. The Government accept the Board's recommendation.

3. The appended notification will be published in English in the Fort St George Gazette, and in English and Tamil in the Tanjore District Gazette

4. The Senior Translator to Government is requested to arrange for the translation of the appended notification in Tamil and forward it to the Collector of Tanjore for publication in the District Gazette.

APPENDIX.

NOTIFICATION.

In exercise of the power conferred by clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 16 of the Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act, 1923 (Madras Act I of 1925), the Local Government are hereby pleased to vary and fix the jurisdiction of the temple committees in the district of Tanjore as specified hereunder—

(G. O. Ms. No. 3140, L. & M.)

No. 774.—The Board of Commissioners for Hindu Religious Endowments brings to notice that the five Gramasakti temples in Kandukur taluk, Nellore district specified in the annexure, the annual income of which is less than Rs. 250 and which are thus outside the scope of the Hindu Religious Endowments Act, 1923, are not efficiently managed, that the Archaka of the first temple who is in possession of the temple lands is likely to quit the service, that some lands of temples Nos. 2 and 4 are cultivated by the trustees themselves and that all the temples except No. 1 (Ankamma's temple) are left unwared for except during Jathras which occur once in three years and that the temples are not provided even with doors or compound walls. The Board accordingly requests the Government to apply to these temples all the provisions of the Hindu Religious Endowments Act, 1923 (Madras Act I of 1925), except section 85 (1) which relates to the levy of contribution towards the expenses of the Board so that ways and means may be devised by the Board for improving the services in all the temples and for placing the management thereof on a satisfactory basis. Before issuing a notification under the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 2 of the Act as desired by the Board, the Government desire to know whether any trustee or worshipper at any of these temples has any objection to urge against such application. If no valid objection is received by the Government within a month from the date of publication of this notification in the District Gazette they will proceed to issue a notification under the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 2 of the Act applying all the provisions of the Act except 65 (1) to the five temples in question.

NOTIFICATIONS.

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 15 of the Sea Customs Act (VIII of 1878), as amended, the Collector of Customs, Madras, as Chief Customs Officer hereby cancels the notification, dated 16th March 1925, printed at page 532 of the Fort St. George Gazette, Part II, dated 24th March 1925, which declared the room specified therein to be a public warehouse at Cocanada.

T. A. STEWART,
Collector of Customs.

Custom House, Madras,
22nd July 1926.

The following shall be substituted to the specification of pyridine bases contained in Board's notification No. 11, dated 4th August 1915, published in pages 1559-1564 of Part II of the Fort St. George Gazette, dated 8th October 1918:—

II—SPECIFICATION OF PYRIDINE BASES.

I. Colour.—The colour must not ordinarily be darker than that given by 2 c.c. of deci-normal iodine solution dissolved in one litre of distilled water.

II. Miscibility with water.—The pyridine bases should mix readily and completely with spirit and should give a clear or only slightly opalescent solution when mixed with twice their volume of water.

III. Amount of water present.—From 20 c.c. of the pyridine bases mixed with 20 c.c. of caustic soda solution (density 1·4) at least 18·5 c.c. of the bases should separate after having been repeatedly shaken together and allowed to stand.

IV. Titration.—Dissolve 1 c.c. of the pyridine bases in 9·5 c.c. of distilled water. Titrate with normal sulphuric acid until a drop of the mixture gives a definite blue spot on congo-red paper (the blue colour should at once disappear). At least 9·5 c.c. of the normal sulphuric acid should be required to produce this reaction. (To prepare the congo-red paper, dissolve one gram of congo-red in one litre of distilled water. Soak filter paper in this and then dry.)

V. Cadmium Chloride reaction.—Vigorously shake together 10 c.c. of a solution of 1 c.c. of pyridine bases in 100 c.c. of distilled water with 5 c.c. of a 5 per cent solution of dry fused cadmium chloride. A distinct crystalline precipitate should immediately result, and there should be an abundant separation of crystals within ten minutes.

V-(a). Another 10 c.c. of the above 1 per cent aqueous solution should give a white precipitate when mixed with 5 c.c. of Nessler's reagent.

VI. Boiling point.—Distil 100 c.c. of the pyridine bases in the manner described below. At least 50 c.c. should distil over, at or under 140° C. and a total of 90 c.c. at or under 150° C.

Method.—One hundred cubic centimeters of pyridine bases are placed in a short necked copper flask of about 200 c.c. capacity. The flask is arranged on an asbestos card which has a circular hole of 30 m.m. diameter cut in it. To the flask is attached a fractionating column (consisting of a tube 18 m.m. wide and 170 m.m. long, provided with one bulb) of which the side tube (being 1 c.m. above the bulb) forms a Liebig's condenser of which the cooled part is at least 400 m.m. long. A standard thermometer is placed in the head of the column so that its bulb occupies the centre of the bulb of the column.

The speed of distillation is adjusted to 4 c.c. per minute, the distillate being received in a graduated glass cylinder. At least 50 c.c. should distil over at or under 140° C. and 90 c.c. at or under 150° C. at a barometric pressure of 760 m.m.

If the barometer varies from 760 m.m. a correction of 1° C. for each 30 m.m. of variation should be applied (e.g. under 770 m.m. of pressure 50 c.c. of distillate should come over at or under 140·3° C. whilst under 750 m.m. the same amount of distillate should come over at 139·7° C.

NOTE.—Pyridine proper is a single definite compound (C_5H_5N) boiling at about 116° C. 'Pyridine bases' are mixtures of pyridine with closely allied compounds, boiling at various temperatures. They are cheaper and more effective denaturants than the pure pyridine.
